

Sally Wilson is a Senior International Strategist within The University of Queensland's (UQ) Global Engagement and Entrepreneurship division. A member of the Global Strategy and Partnerships team, Sally has more than 20 years' experience in global business development, applying broad cross-sectoral knowledge and strategic insights to support UQ's international engagement agenda and global strategy. Motivated to develop high impact, future-focused, multilateral and interdisciplinary partnerships, Sally recognises priority opportunities that will deliver global knowledge leadership and exceptional outcomes of benefit to UQ and broader industry, government and education sectors.

Sally has a truly global outlook with experience across several key regions. She has lived in the United States, China and Germany where she was appointed as UQ's first offshore Business Development Manager for Europe. Her current portfolio specialises in developing strategic partnerships across Europe and South East Asia with a focus on Germany, United Kingdom, Switzerland, Belgium, Singapore and Malaysia. Sally holds qualifications in communications, public relations and international relations. Prior to entering the higher education sector, Sally worked in primary industries as the Managing Director of a specialist equine veterinary clinic focused on assisted reproductive techniques and advanced fertility treatments. Sally's LinkedIn.

Hanno Blankenstein is a Co-Founder and the CEO of Unleash live, an artificial intelligence powered video and sensor platform. Previously, he was a Partner and Managing Director of the BCG Digital Ventures Asia business, having been the joint CEO of the award-winning strategic design firm S&C, which was acquired by The Boston Consulting Group in 2014.

Hanno became an aviation enthusiast early and is a successful entrepreneur, product and service innovator, coder, business builder and strategy consultant. He has deep tech expertise in cloud, machine learning, networks and hardware. He has incubated and scaled digital businesses globally and has been building and investing in companies for over a decade. He holds an MBA from Duke University.